This newly revised program helps you conform to the latest changes in OSHA confined space requirements (effective February, 1999). Both general education and specialized training about confined spaces are covered.

Confined Spaces: A Training Program For Employees includes a brand-new video that identifies confined space hazards, provides key definitions, outlines testing requirements, discusses written certification, and reviews training needs.

New Features!

This program now includes a guide book to help you with rescue service evaluation, which you must do prior to selecting rescue service personnel. You'll also get 10 non-confined space employee information cards. These handy cards are for employees who do not work in confined space environments, but who work in close proximity to confined space working areas.

Kit includes:

- (1) 20-Minute, Closed-Captioned VHS Training Video
